Casilde Isabella is an Associate Professor of Spanish Applied Linguistics at the University of Nevada, Reno (UNR). She is originally from the Chicago-land area.

In 2001, she received her Ph.D. in Spanish Applied Linguistics with a certificate in Second Language Acquisition and Teacher Education (SLATE) from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign (UIUC).

Her research concerns adult second language acquisition in the formal classroom (both traditional, hybrid and online) and study-abroad setting, multilingualism, pedagogy, and the use of technology in the learning environment.

At UNR she has taught and/or currently teaches: Teaching of Foreign Languages Graduate Seminar; Romance Applied Linguistics; Introduction to Hispanic Linguistics; Spanish Phonetics and Phonology; Spanish Composition; and, Basic and Intermediate Spanish. She developed the online and hybrid versions of Beginning Spanish. She is also the Director of the Basic Spanish Language Program and Faculty Advisor of Sigma Delta Pi (the National Hispanic Honor Society).

In addition to teaching at UNR, she has also taught at the University of Iowa, the University of Minnesota, UIUC, the Universitat de Barcelona, and as a visiting Associate Professor at Sonoma State University.

Finally, she has put theory to practice by writing Spanish textbooks to be used at the university level. She is a co-author for the 9th edition of McGraw-Hill's Beginning Spanish textbook Puntos de Partida and is currently writing an Intermediate Level Spanish textbook with John Wiley & Sons Publishing.
