

The Utilization of Some Different-Approaches-but-Similar-Results English and Chinese Expressions in English Teaching Classroom

Xiuwen Wang

Nanjing University of Aeronautics and Astronautics (China)

xiuwenwang@hotmail.com

Abstract

As the international common language, English is very popular in China and English teaching is advocated in Chinese universities and colleges and efficient English classroom teaching is highly preferred. It is found that there are some different-approaches-but-similar-results English and Chinese expressions in English teaching classroom and, if effectively used by English teachers, can arouse students' English learning interest and deepen students' understanding of different cultures.