Tan Chuan Leong is currently an Educational Technology Officer at the Educational Technology Division, Ministry of Education.

He graduated with Bachelor of Arts (Chinese Language and Chinese Studies) from the National University of Singapore in 1997 and completed his Post Graduate Diploma in Education at the National Institute of Education, Nanyang Technological University in 1998. Since then he has been teaching Chinese Language at a secondary school. In 2007, he was awarded Masters of Science (Knowledge Management), from the Nanyang Technological University.

Chuan Leong has keen interest in integrating ICT with teaching and learning of Chinese Language. He has explored tools such as web-based learning portal, community building platforms (eCircles), online collaborative platform (Google Docs) and 3-Dimensional Virtual World platform in the teaching of Chinese Language.

He had the opportunity to be involved in curriculum redesign of the school's Chinese Language and character development programme (CHAMPS). In addition, he also led the exploration to look into the application and implementation of Social Emotional Learning (CASEL) to support the CHAMPS programme.

Currently, Chuan Leong is working closely with educators in the exploration, planning, implementation and review of ICT based projects for the learning and teaching of Chinese Language at primary and secondary levels.
