Nicola Halenko is a Senior Lecturer in EFL and TESOL at the University of Central Lancashire and is currently the Course Leader for the International Foundation Programme.

Prior to becoming a teacher trainer in Higher Education, Nicola worked extensively in Europe and Asia as an EFL teacher.

Nicola’s research interests include Interlanguage Pragmatics and World Englishes. Her most recent publication (2011) can be found in System where she co-authored a paper on the effects of explicit instruction on spoken request language.

She is currently working towards her PhD which is investigating data collection within Interlanguage Pragmatics.
