Dr. Mohammad Alsuraihi is the dean of Information Technology Deanship, and the head of Computer Science Department at the University of Taibah in Saudi Arabia.

He finished his BSc studies in Computer Science in 1997. Then, worked as a computing tutor in high-school level for 5 years. He obtained his MSc qualification in Computer Science from the University of Newcastle Upon Tyne, UK, in 2003; and the PhD in Software Engineering from the University of Bradford, UK, in 2008.

Since then, Dr. Alsuraihi worked as an assistant professor in the Department of Computer Science at the College of Computer Science and Engineering in Taibah University. In 2009, Dr. Alsuraihi directed his career to the IT and ubiquitous information business, and worked in several projects in this field. This was besides the teaching and graduate- projects supervision tasks he was committed to in his scientific department. This experience in IT projects along with his teaching experience, have shaped his great interest towards research for enhancing teaching and learning methods using technology.
