

Adrián Rodríguez-Burruezo

Institution: Universitat Politècnica de València (UPV)

Address: Camino de Vera 14

Postal Code: 46022 València

Country: Spain

Tel: +34-96-387.93.83

Fax: +34-96-387.94.22

Email: adrodbur@doctor.upv.es

Adrián Rodríguez-Burruezo is Professor of Genetics at the UPV

He graduated as Agriculture Engineer at the Universitat Politècnica de València in 1997. He is PhD in Genetics and Plant Breeding since 2003.

Adrián Rodríguez-Burruezo is an expert in the genetic improvement of vegetables for yield, resistance to diseases and fruit quality (nutritional and organoleptic). He has been involved in more than 20 research projects in plant breeding and published 25 JCR-indexed papers, 40 Conference proceedings, and 5 books.

At the educational level, he is lecturer at the UPV since 2007 and teaches subjects related to plant breeding in different degrees, mostly related with Agricultural Sciences. Author of several educational books and softwares, contributions to Conferences of innovation in education, and member of the Active Methodologies and Information Technologies team (MATI), an educational innovation group of lecturers of the UPV.