Scott Gordley graduated with an MFA from Tufts University. He is currently Chair of the Department of Art & Design at Montclair State University in New Jersey. He began his career in New York illustrating for clients including Time, Esquire, Reader's Digest, Newsday and the London Times. His work appears in many public and private collections and has been exhibited in solo and group shows throughout the United States and Europe. In 1999 he was honored with a 20-year retrospective in Vienna, Austria. Mr. Gordley had 2 exhibitions open in New York City recently and was recently honored by inclusion in both The Society of Illustrators 48th Annual American Illustration and in the American Illustration anthology: Best Of American Illustration. In addition to his art, Mr. Gordley is a jazz & blues saxophonist, having played as a member of numerous bands including Little Anthony & the Locomotives, Johnny & the East Coast Rockers, Erik Narwhal & the Manatees, and Special 20 . He has appeared on numerous recordings with national jazz & blues artists including Little Anthony, Johnny MacLeod and the Gamma Rays. Mr. Gordley's exhibition at the famed Apollo Theatre in New York City in the summer of 2008 was a tribute to the history of jazz. He has lectured on art and education at the American University in Paris; the International Conference on the Humanities at Fatih University in Istanbul, Turkey; Arts In Society Conference, Venice, Italy; The International Conference on Learning, Barcelona, Spain, and July, 2010 at the International Conference on Education, Samos Greece. He resides in Pawcatuck, Ct. with his wife Debi.
