

Margaret Denny

Institution: Waterford Institute of Technology

Country: Ireland

Dr. Margaret Denny is a lecturer at Waterford Institute of Technology. She received her M.Phil and Ph.D in Applied psychology from the University College Cork. Her research has led to both theoretical and practical advances in the application of multiple intelligences teaching and learning approaches in third level education.

In 2008 she was presented with a 'Teaching and Innovation Award' by Waterford Institute of Technology (WIT). In addition to publishing in many peer reviewed academic journals and edited book chapters, she has delivered at numerous educational International conferences and symposia.

Her professional service outside of WIT involves reading and reviewing for various peer reviewed journals and she has acted as external examiner to Institutes of Technology and Universities. Work in Progress- she is currently involved in International educational research proposal with the UDINE C group of educators and Leonardo daVinci EU funded project.