Ginta Gedžūne is a PhD student of pedagogy at Daugavpils University, Latvia.

She received a Master degree in education (Mg.educ.) in 2009 at Daugavpils University, Latvia and commenced her doctoral studies in autumn 2009. Since then she has been doing research work in such interrelated topics as education for sustainable development in teacher education, educational action research, social exclusion and inclusion in education.

Since 2007 Ginta Gedžūne is a staff member of the Institute of Sustainable Education (Daugavpils University, Latvia) which is working towards implementing a global UNESCO/UNITWIN project on reorienting teacher education to address sustainability. She has been involved as administrative staff in Comenius and Erasmus Lifelong Learning Programme projects and for two years has been a member of organising committee of the annual scientific conference of Journal of Teacher Education for Sustainability (JTEFS) and Baltic and Black sea Circle Consortium in educational research (BBCC) "Sustainable Development. Culture. Education".

Since 2009 Ginta Gedžūne is a member of Baltic Black sea Circle Consortium in educational research (BBCC) and European Network of Excellence in Research on Citizenship Education (ENERCE). She has been participating in various international scientific conferences on education (in countries like Latvia, Lithuania, France, Germany, Slovakia) with presentations and publications of her research. Since 2010 she is a language editor of scientific journals "Journal of Teacher Education for Sustainability" and "Discourse and Communication for Sustainable Education".
