Cecily Ward is the managing director of Global Leadership, a management consulting firm, while also completing her PhD in leadership and innovation.

Based in Singapore, Cecily's doctoral studies focus on the influence of leadership on innovation in Singapore schools.

Through her consulting work, Cecily is involved with additional research studies exploring leadership among IT leaders and distributed work teams. She applies the latest in leadership thinking to develop solutions to address challenges in organisations, especially in the banking industry.

Cecily has also taught leadership and management subjects at business schools in Europe and Australia.
