

Eugene J. Monaco

Institution: University at Albany SUNY

Address: 1400 Washington Ave

Postal Code: Albany NY 12222

Country: United States

Tel: 1+518 441 4747

Fax: 1+518 956 7865

Email: emonaco@albany.edu

Web: <http://www.pdp.albany.edu/>

Eugene J. Monaco is a Public Service Professor of Policy and Public Administration and serves as the Executive Director of the Professional Development Program at Rockefeller College, University at Albany SUNY.

He has his graduate degrees—Education and Social Science—from the University of Albany. He has been working in the field of public administration and continuing professional education for over 30 years.

Eugene J. Monaco is an expert in government and technology focusing in particular on the areas of continuing professional education and training for the public workforce.

Eugene J. Monaco is the leader of the largest continuing professional education program in the United States that services the public sector workforce. Monaco also has experience in the design and delivery of instructional activities using state-of-the-art delivery modalities and the development of curricula, training and research materials for continuing professional education in a university setting.

Eugene J. Monaco is often invited as a speaker or expert at International Conferences to present his findings on the use of technology for government.

He has also authored numerous journal articles, papers, and scholarly abstracts on technology, continuing professional education and workforce development and is a contributing co-author of two books on government and technology.