

Esteban Vázquez Cano

Institution: Spanish National University of Distance Education. (UNED)

Address: Juan del Rosal, 14

Postal Code: 28040 Madrid

Country: Spain

Tel: +34-91-3988008

Fax: +34-91-3988008

Email: evazquez@edu.uned.es

Web: <http://edtk.co/TXxTh>

Esteban Vázquez Cano is Associated Professor in the Department of Didactics, School Organization and Specific Didactics at Spanish National University of Distance Education in Madrid (Spain).

He received three different B.A. in Spanish Language and Literature, English Studies and Romance Philology from Complutense University (Madrid) and Spanish National University of Distance Education (Madrid) and his Ph.D. in Education with honors from UNED.

He has taught at various Spanish secondary schools and he has been Inspector of Education. He currently teaches in the Bachelor of Education and Social Education, the Master's degree in information technology and communication in education and language processing and in the Master of educational Innovation and evaluation of training programs. He has published several books and articles related to teaching and new technologies: Programming in Primary and Secondary (Pearson), Teaching Programming: Theory and Practice. (University Publishing Group), Educators Network (Ediciones Académicas) and The New Technologies in the organization of schools (Spanish Academic Publishing).

His main research topics are the supervision and inspection of educational institutions, training and innovation in the exercise of the schools leadership and ICT applied to the organization of schools and innovation in curriculum design.