

Corinna Bartoletti

Institution: Consorzio abn
Address: Via Cairoli 24
Postal Code: 06100 Perugia
Country: Italy
Tel: +39-075-504511
Fax: +39- 075- 5004584
Email: c.bartoletti@consorzioabn.it
Web: <http://www.consorzioabn.it>

She is graduated in Humanities and obtained a PhD in General Linguistics at the University of Perugia, in which- although aimed at analyzing the grammar of a Creole language- she focused to great extent in the Theory of Language Universals and Second Language Acquisition. After PhD graduation she participated to several international workshops with related publications, as for instance <https://sites.google.com/site/grgcworkshop2011/programme>

In 2009 she held a research fellowship at Università per Stranieri (Perugia) focused on Evaluation of translation Quality.

She worked as a translator (English> Italian; French > Italian) since 1997, starting with the Web Editorial Board "UJ PI@net". She worked as a trainer of linguistics and communication abilities both within the academic context (2002-2003) and within specific projects, for instance:

Grundtvig Project NON PROFIT SPACE (2009-2011) 20 hours as facilitator/trainer within the "Learning Circle 2", focused on Communication and Language Acquisition. She has been involved in project planning and project coordination for almost 5 years and the last 2 with Consorzio abn and coop soc coop Borgorete. In 2010 she has designed the project Europe2111 which was focused on promoting Key and Transversal Competences through Video-documentary editing and the project Isabel, using Community Reporting practices and methods to promote soft skills and integration processes. In 2011 she designed the (funded) projects ETRA, EDUCO and CLOHE, the latter using Automata Toys for promotion of design and engineering capabilities in primary education.