

Laszlo Kadocsa

Institution: College of Dunaujvaros

Country: Hungary

Dr. Laszlo Kadocsa, Ph.D. in Pedagogical Sciences.

He is presently acting as the General and Academic Vice Rector of the College of Dunaujvaros.

He has 32 years of experience in higher education as professor, examiner and academic expert within the educational system and in training outside the educational system. He contributed as expert to the preparation of legislation in adult education and vocational training.

His area of research includes modularization and credit system in the quality improvement of higher education; the development of educational material, open and long distance educational material, learning instruction procedures; methodological and pedagogical questions concerning the development of e-learning educational materials. He participated as project manager in several research projects funded by the European Union.