Zuzana Kucharova is the PhD. student of general psychology at Masaryk University (Faculty of Social Sciences).

She graduated in Psychology from the Masaryk University (Faculty of Arts) in 2009.

From February 2010 she has been studying PhD. programme with the main interest in therapeutic writing.

In her dissertation thesis Zuzana Kucharová studies the process of creative writing (among the authors with some experiences with the mental illness) and she evaluates the workshop of therapeutic creative writing she facilitates. She presented the preliminary results of her research on the Writing Conference in November 2011 in Prague (organised by the interdisciplinary.net).

She regularly participates on and helps with teaching students (she had a lecture about the personality of creators and writers) and evaluating their seminar work at Department of Psychology. She is a supervisor as well. She works as a volunteer in Motivation Center of League for Mental Health in Bratislava

She has a certificate in Internet counselling and is in the therapeutic training of Narrative Therapy.
