Sylvia Liuti is graduated in Economics and after a first experience in the research field, she started working in Human Resource management and vocational training services as well as in Quality Management System.

In 1992 she attended a post-lauream master in “Vocational training for trainer” at the School of Administration of the University Bocconi in Milan and starting from there she worked in a vocational training private company as the Responsible of Designing of training services.

Since 1997 together with two other experienced trainers she founded Associazione FORMA.Azione a vocational training company, specialized in ESF (European Social Fund) projects and adult education. She is actually in charge of designing of vocational training projects and Quality assurance system.

Since 2003, after attending the Executive master for “Experts of gender policies in the labour market”, she started to manage gender equality projects and advisory services to develop work-life balance and women empowerment in private and public companies.

After a first relevant experience of multilateral partnership within Leonardo da Vinci Programme she is now in charge of European projects.

P.R.I.S.D.O.Q. (Peer Reviews: Increasing Sustainable Development Of Quality) is the first TOI (Transfer Of Innovation) Leonardo da Vinci project that FORMA.Azione is coordinating together with transnational partners from Germany (PerspektiveWechsel) Lithuania (Lithuanian Education Trade Union) and Turkey (Happy Kids).
