

Liliane Esnault

Institution: FREREF
Address: 8 Rue Montrochet
Postal Code: 69003 LYON
Country: France
Tel: +33 6 86 06 70 16
Fax:
Email: liliane.esnault@gmail.com
Web: <http://www.freref.eu>

Liliane Esnault is a consultant in the domain of interactions between Information Technology and Social and Educational Sciences. She is also member of the FREREF operational team as responsible for project development.

Her main areas of interests are in developing and animating participatory processes, building and animating networks and communities of practice, conducting and animating longitudinal project evaluations. These works rely on theoretical domains such as Actor Network Theory, Appreciative Inquiry, Participatory Design, Cultivating Communities of Practice, Constructivism.

She was Associate Professor in Information Systems management, e-Business and Project Management at EM LYON during more than twenty years. She was also teaching an e-Business course in a French-Chinese Executive MBA organized by the Rhône-Alpes Region and Shanghai University during ten years. She is currently teaching at IAE de Lyon, University of Luxemburg, EM LYON and several other programs.

She has been involved in several European Research projects in the areas of Technology Enhanced Learning, Life Long Learning, informal and non-formal learning, accompaniment of young adults in their way back into school and society. She is currently the representative of FREREF within the LLWINGS Comenius project.

She is the author of several writings linked with her areas of expertise. She also is a member of international associations and of editorial boards of international journals.

International conference
The Future of Education

2nd Edition

