The Education, Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency (EACEA) of the European Commission is responsible for the management of various EU's programmes in the fields of education, culture and audiovisual. The Agency is functioning from the 1st of January 2006 and operates under supervision from three EC Directorates-General (Education and Culture, Communication, EuropeAid Cooperation Office)

Seven key Community programmes have been partly or fully delegated to the EACEA: Lifelong Learning, Erasmus Mundus, Tempus, Culture, Youth in Action, Europe for Citizens and Media, as well as several international Cooperation Agreements in the field of higher education.

The Agency is responsible for most management aspects of the programmes, information and support to applicants and beneficiaries and dissemination and exploitation of projects' results.

The Eurydice Unit at EACEA coordinates the Network on education systems and policies in Europe (Eurydice) integrating all 31 countries participating in the EU Lifelong Learning programme. The mission of the Eurydice network is to provide those responsible for education systems and policies in Europe with European-level analyses and information which will assist them in their decision making.
